Réttir is one of the highlights of the Icelandic autumn season, drawing visitors from all over the world to witness the roundup of sheep and horses that have grazed wild for the summer. The roundup is still conducted on horseback and the animals are herded into a corral where the sorting takes place. This traditional event is a highly festive occasion, with dances, feasts, and other communal festivities an integral part of the celebrations. In Calgary, we celebrate with Iceland by hosting a Fall Feast. For the program, we hear presentations from the 2023 Snorri Participants. Snorris are young adults who are sponsored by the Leif Eiriksson Icelandic Club and have experienced a 5-week cultural trip to Iceland.
